

Travel by Steam

When the rail - way o - pen'd, I re - mem - ber it well What bus-tle there was in the mor-ning, I'll tell, with the lads and young las-sies, so bu-xom and gay De - light-ed and talk-ing a - bout the rail-way.
Chorus
You may tra-vel by steam, so the folks say, All the world ov-er up - on the rail-way.

1 When the railway opened, I remembered it well
What bustle there was in the morning, I'll tell
With the lads and young lasses, so buxom and gay
Delighted and talking about the railway

Chorus: You may travel by steam, so the folks say
All the world over upon the railway.

2 To view this new railroad away they did go
It's a great undertaking, you very well know
Surpassing all others, believe me, it's true
There's tunnels for miles that you have to go through

3 There's coaches and carts to accommodate all
The lame and the lazy, the great and the small
If you wish for to ride, to be sure, you must pay
To see all the fun that's upon the railway

4 In London, I've heard, there is now a machine
Invented for making young children by steam
Such dear little creatures, full thirty a day
For young engineers to supply the railway

5 So come all you good people and let us be free Come fill up your glasses, and merry we'll be Success to all trades in the reign of our Queen
And the boiling hot water that travels by steam
